

ing Mr. Lawler, who was present at my suggestion, discussed the evidence at some length. I said to Mr. Lawler that I was very anxious to write a full statement of the case and set out the reasons for my decision, but that the time for my departure on a long Western trip, occupying two months, was just one week from that day. I had some idea of several short speeches to deliver at the beginning of that journey, and that I could not give the time to the preparation of such a detailed statement and opinion as I would like to render in the matter. I therefore requested Mr. Lawler to prepare an opinion as if he were President.

During the 8th, 9th and 10th I gave such consideration to the Glavis record as was consistent with previous engagements, but paid no attention to the speeches. On the 9th, I telegraphed the Attorney-General to come to Beverly in order that I might consult him in respect to the case.

He arrived there Saturday afternoon, September 11, and, pursuant to the appointment made by telephone, he came to my house early on Sunday morning, September 12. He then delivered to me the draft opinion prepared by Mr. Lawler, and said that he had had an opportunity on coming from New York to read the answer of Mr. Ballinger and others. I then said to him that I had made up my mind as to my conclusions, and had drafted part of my opinion, but that I wished him to examine the full record and bring his conclusions before I stated mine. He took the whole record away.

During the day I examined the draft opinion of Mr. Lawler, but its thirty pages did not state the case in the way in which I wished it stated. It contained references to the evidence which were useful, but its criticism of Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Glavis I did not think it proper or wise to adopt. I only used a few paragraphs from it containing merely general statements.

The Attorney-General returned in the evening with notes of the examination which he had made and reported to me the conclusions which he had reached, which were in substantial accord with my own. We then discussed the matter at some length, particularly some points of law which were involved, and took up the opinion which I had finished and made a number of alterations, and as the result of that discussion I determined the final form which I employed and signed the same on Monday, September 13.

The conclusions which I reached were based upon my reading of the record, and were fortified by the oral analysis of the evidence and the conclusions which the Attorney-General gave me, using the notes which he had made during his reading of the record. I was very sorry not to be able to embody this analysis in my opinion, and I therefore directed him to embody in a written statement such analysis and conclusions as he had given me, file it with the record, and date it prior to the date of my opinion, so as to show that my decision was fortified by the analysis of the evidence and his conclusions therefrom.

Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM H. TAFT.

COMET LOOMING LARGE AND LURID

But While Timid Folk Are Terrified, Wise Men Merely Say It's Foolish.

More than three score years ago Halley's comet, that mysterious wanderer of the skies whose origin and whose ultimate destiny no man knows, was seen and feared of men, and on Wednesday it will again reach its closest proximity to the earth. It will then be but 14,000,000 miles from this planet, and if its tail be long enough, the earth will pass through that appendage, though the passage will take only a few hours. This has occurred several times before without injury to the earth or the inhabitants thereof; but still a few are skeptical that there will be no harm. "A little learning is a dangerous thing," said Pope, and it is those who have some little knowledge of the comet and its coming and its going who fear it most. Prophecies of doom and destruction have frightened the lay mind, and lurid writers of fancy have foretold what the gigantic tale of the comet may be expected to do, of the poisonous pusillid acid which forms a component part, supposedly, of its material, of the bombardment by meteors and shooting stars, such as have never been before; of the fearful rain of lumps of iron as large as lamp posts and cannon balls that will be watched for men of the sky may bring.

Wise Men Are Eager.
But while the ignorant watch and pray and remember in bitter penitence their sins, the learned scientists and the dabblers in astronomy are eagerly waiting for the comet, and its mighty stream of gas of some other vaporous substance which will envelop the earth and stretch away to 14,000,000 miles. But they expect only a brilliant coloring of the sunset skies, perhaps, possibly a shower of meteors which will burn and be destroyed before they reach the earth, and a greater knowledge which this visitor from nowhere may teach.

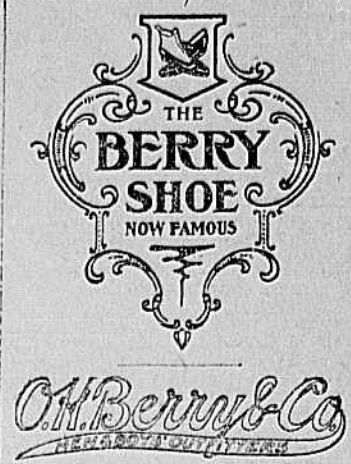

It will not be seen here on Wednesday evening, for its bright light will be obscured in the glare of the sun, as a match is dimmed in the rays of an arc light. People will hardly know that they are passing through the comet's tail, unless the unexpected happens, and then it will not matter, for if the earth be crumpled up like a scroll, of which the Hittites boasted, and Wednesday be that day on which Gabriel shall blow his trumpet, then

MOTHER'S FRIEND

A LINIMENT FOR EXTERNAL USE.

One of the most valuable qualities of Mother's Friend is that it safe-guards the future health of the mother. It is a liniment to be applied externally to the body, the use of which lubricates the muscles and tendons, softens the glands and ducts, prevents lumps forming in the breasts, and relieves the pain, nervousness, nausea, and other troubles from which so many expectant mothers suffer. When Mother's Friend is used regularly it fits and prepares the system for an easy and natural consummation of the term. Women who massage with this great liniment are always saved much suffering when baby comes, and recover more quickly, and without ill effects. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. earthly knowledge will be of no avail, and it will be only that which has been done that will count.

But scientists believe that the sun will continue to shine after Wednesday, the showers to descend on the just and unjust, the flowers to bloom and the green grass to grow, and humanity to progress towards that era which may bring the parliament of man and the federation of the world.

Certainly one learned seer of Richmond, who has seen other comets come and go, has no fear of the new visitor and believes that Thursday will dawn again for many centuries to come, and that the rose of Sharon and the lily of the valley shall still grow and blossom in the fields.

AMUSEMENTS

Academy—Benjamin Players.
Hijou—Vandeville.

"Polly Primrose."

The Benjamin Players at the Academy this week will be "Polly Primrose." Wiltsch's lovely story of Virginia in the days of '63. This is the first of what may be called sympathetic plays to be produced this season by Manager Benjamin, and in this piece Miss Catherine Carter will have a part thoroughly congenial with her temperament. Being Southern born, Miss Carter will be perfectly at home in the role of Polly Primrose, the idolized daughter of an old Virginia home and the centre of attraction among her own set.

Owing to the commencement exercises of one of the medical colleges, the usual Wednesday matinee will not be given to the women in attendance. However, a special matinee will be rendered on Tuesday in order to give to the women in attendance upon the piano manufacturers' convention an opportunity to see the play.

INSPECTION OF POLICE

Men of Three Stations Expected to Make Finest Display Ever Had.

The police force will be inspected by the Police Commission on Wednesday afternoon, the whole force turning out in new spring uniforms. There will probably be no parade, and the inspection will be confined to the men at their different stations, which, with the addition of Washington Ward, now number three. The force is estimated to be more than 130 men, and it is expected to be the finest turnout the department has ever had.

NEGRO BURGLAR FLEES TO DEATH

Escapes Armed Pursuers Only to Drown in Trying to Swim River.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Franklin, Va., May 15.—Wm. Smith, colored, was drowned this morning about 5 o'clock while attempting to escape officers who were hunting him for housebreaking and stealing. On Saturday night, Smith broke into the house of Sarah Austin, colored, and stole several articles of clothing. Sarah Austin swore out a warrant for his arrest before Mayor Vaughan, and the Mayor ordered Sergeant Bell to arrest him. The sergeant and another policeman went to the house where Smith boarded. They found him in the kitchen, where he was eating breakfast, but he escaped from the house and was pursued by the officers. He drew a pistol and fired at his pursuers, who also fired at him. He escaped over the Southern Railway bridge over the Blackwater River. The sergeant then summoned assistants to aid him in capturing the man, and he was surrounded on the bank of the river a short distance from the bridge. He still refused to surrender, and he was fired upon by his pursuers, who fired on him with a gun loaded with buckshot, none of which appeared to take effect. Finding himself surrounded by an armed posse, he attempted to escape by swimming the river, which at that point is narrow, but he was unable to do so. He was found floating in the river, and his body was recovered by the police. He was examined by the coroner and his jury. The doctors testified that he was shot, and that he died of the wounds. The negro came here about a month ago from Georgia, it is said, and had recently boasted that no man could arrest him. It is thought that he was a fugitive from justice.

GIVES HALF OF SAVINGS FOR SCHOOL FOR BOYS

Asheville, N. C., May 15.—The identity of the donor of 600 acres of valuable farm land to the Presbyterian home missions was made known to-day when it was announced that Thomas M. Slagle, a farmer of Macon county, had given half of his life's earnings for the erection of a boys' industrial school at Franklin. The offer was made to the Asheville Presbytery, in session at Montreat last month, and was accepted.

Among the interesting members of the Piano Manufacturers' Convention are James S. Holmes and Harold S. Holmes, father and son, of New York. They are often taken for brothers. James S. Harold S. Holmes is termed "The Boy Wonder" in the piano trade, being the youngest man in the business. Mr. Holmes, his father, is a former officer of both the Manufacturers' and Travelers' Associations.

from that State, it is practically certain that one of the new bishops will come from Texas. This certainly is increased by the fact that Bishop Joseph S. Key, who has been residing in Texas for a number of years, is spoken of in this connection, but there is evidently a very decided division of thought among the delegates from the six conferences in that State.

There is also strong effort being made to get the conference to elect a resident bishop for Brazil and another for the conferences in the Orient, and that two men will be selected with this special purpose in view is not at all improbable, the conviction in the conference being strong that the missionary interests of the church justify such official recognition.

A prominent member of the committee on episcopacy has informed Bishop H. C. Morrison that probably at its next meeting, which will be held to-morrow, he will again be placed on the effective list. As the matter stands to-day, the report now in the hands of the president of the committee recommends the bishop's superannuation, and it will not be until the committee votes a reconsideration, and by another vote place him again on the active list. It is rumored that new charges will be preferred against the bishop by a member of the Louisville Conference at to-morrow's session. The charge will be along lines of those already passed upon him, and on which the committee of investigation will report at to-morrow morning's session that no trial of the bishop is necessary.

Friends of Bishop Morrison declare that they are positive that the committee will decide to annul its previous action, and that there is absolutely nothing against the bishop's moral character, he will by vote of the conference remain effective.

The Vanderbilt University question will be fully discussed during the week. At its meeting, the board of trustees will be legal in its action outside of Tennessee is a subject now being discussed by many. It is claimed that the bylaws of the university give the board the right to hold a meeting anywhere.

FLAG AS DRAPERY FOR NUDE DANCER

Stars and Stripes "Desecrated" at "Splash" of Navy Employees.

GAY PARIS IS OUTDONE

Department Now Investigating Wild Revels Which Caused Sensation.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Newport, May 15.—It has become known that the main cause for the investigation being conducted by the Navy Department into the celebrated "splash" given here last February by civilian employees attached to the torpedo fleet, was that the American flag was used to drape the nude form of a dancing girl.

The naval employees are charged with the desecration of the flag, although some of the more patriotic of the 400 men who attended the entertainment insisted that the Bacchante, "out of respect" to the colors, should have the Stars and Stripes draped about her person.

Wild applause greeted the whirling dancer. The doors were ordered closed and she was forced to do her "turn" again and again. A faint protest came from some of the young men, and they finally insisted that the flag be dispensed with. William Hayes, an expert aide of the torpedo station, is said to have been the master of ceremonies. Following the "splash," a complaint is said to have been made to the Navy Department by James Brennan, a pipe-fitter, employed at the station.

The communication was unheeded by the department, and the affair would possibly have been hushed up but for the interposition of United States Senator George Peabody Wetmore, who personally requested that an inquiry be made.

The members of the association boasted that they had nothing to fear, as they were "off the reservation," and the entertainment was given, and officials had no right to interfere with the civilian employees. They have since learned that there is a clause in the civil service appointments which covers such matters. Regardless of the fact it is more than likely no investigation would have been ordered had the flag not been desecrated.

It will require several days more to complete the case. Four stenographers are now engaged in compiling the statements so far secured. The board consists of the following naval officers: Lieutenant Charles Belknap, Jr.; C. Castleman and Paymaster B. Wainwright.

Testimony thus far submitted indicates that the "splash," which is held annually at the torpedo station, is a mutual association, outside the dancing performances given in the gay parts of Paris. While the affair was supposed to be a "smoke," the main attraction was a group of dancing girls. It is reported that LaBella Freda, a stage girl of Boston, whose salary stands at $175 a week, was given for the decoration of the "splashes," and a number of other women performers.

The most influential citizens of this community have entered heart and soul into the movement, and will conduct the canvassing for the station with all its variations, was given for the decoration of the "splashes," and a number of other women performers.

will be summoned before the investigating board.
So startling were the acts of some of the dancing girls that one woman who was engaged to do a "turn" left the hall, declaring she knew her act would be bad for her fame for the "splashes." Young apprentices in the shops of the torpedo station, who have been forced to testify that the "splash" was a "smoke" of the "smoker" was the pretty dancer who appeared in the flag, and was called by some "The Daughter of the Navy." Blushing and justifying the young men said she first appeared as an ordinary ballet girl, but after a few turns on the stage began to lose parts of her costume, and at a moment when everybody gasped in astonishment, she snatched the colors from the side of the stage and wound them about her.

GOV. HASKELL MUST FACE TRIAL IN JUNE

President and Wickersham Move Regarding the Alleged Land Frauds.

Washington, May 15.—Governor Haskell, of Oklahoma, must stand trial for his alleged participation in the whole sale land frauds for which he has been indicted in that State.

Wickersham reached this decision after they had heard the plea of Senators Clegg and Owen and Congressman Carter and Ford, that before further action is taken in the proceedings against Haskell, the President should appoint a special investigator to report whether the government is justified in continuing the prosecution. It was gently intimated to the President that this will trust Governor is being persecuted.

Whether the President nor Attorney-General Wickersham can see it that the Department of Justice has recently announced that he would have a petit jury pass upon the guilt or innocence of the Governor in June next.

The prosecutions of these town lot cases and of the Governor have been in charge of S. H. Rush, a special agent of the Attorney-General. The Rush is in the city and has been in conference with Attorney-General Wickersham.

The indirect purpose of the request made upon the President is to discredit the fairness and justice of this special attorney and to intimidate that motives besides legal ones animate the prosecution.

The Attorney-General said that the cases had been begun before he entered the Department of Justice, but he had looked into them with some care, and that he considered the best way to determine whether injustice was being done was to submit the facts to a jury of citizens of Oklahoma.

The recommendation of the Attorney-General will be accepted by the President. Prosecutions will continue under the charge of Mr. Rush, who is in charge of the Department of Justice. He has been doing his best to have done clear work throughout his connection with the cases.

Vanderbilt's Colt Second.
